

Minimum Order Policy Changes

As Interlogix continues to see increased costs for fuel, raw materials and electronic components impacting our business, we find ourselves in the situation where we must pass along a portion of these costs to you. However, we are committed to finding ways for our customers to become more competitive in the markets we jointly serve - including a balance of required price increases on selected products as well as strategic price reductions on others.

In an effort to limit the development of new fees, we have instead reviewed the current Minimum Order Policy, established in 2008, and plan to reintroduce this as part of our Terms & Conditions of Sale.

Effective December 27, 2011, we will be implementing the following price actions and policy changes to our Minimum Order Policy: $125 for all Interlogix customers.

The Interlogix team is committed to reviewing the position of this policy annually for our customers.
